

James Hlongwana is a Senior Lecturer in the Department of History at Great Zimbabwe University. He holds the following qualifications: a PhD degree (NWU), MA (MSU), BA Hons (UNISA), BA (UNISA), Dip-Ed (UZ). He has published book chapters and articles in refereed journals. He has presented papers at international conferences in Zimbabwe, Namibia, South Africa, Italy and Finland. His research interests are largely in borderland studies and politics.